

If you do it right,
it will last forever.

- Massimo Vignelli

Dear Rubio Partner,

Audrey Hepburn once said “To plant a garden is to believe in tomorrow”. Being a gardener myself, this is exactly what I believe in. I think it’s important to create environmentally friendly products through an ecological production process, a vision that is shared by the whole Rubio Family. With the construction of our third plant, we are also showing that we believe in the future and growth of our company and are planting the seeds for tomorrow. This future includes even more innovative and ecological products and building our worldwide presence both online and offline.

This reference book is our sixth already and shows how our products can give wood the finishing touch it deserves. Wood is a very precious and beautiful material and we love to treat it the best way possible. Our products ensure that the wood lasts a long time and that it stands out. Thanks to the simple application, anyone can protect and colour their wood easily and safely (and I speak from experience). Of course, they’re also very nice products to work with, especially when you see the wood transforming before your eyes.

Year after year we receive the most beautiful projects from enthusiastic wood believers who show us all the possibilities of wood and our products. We are very proud of these projects and I’m very pleased to present them to you this year. This book is therefore a “thank you” for each and every one of them, but it’s also a source of inspiration for everyone who is working with wood.

From one Monocoat believer to another: Keep up the wood work!

Vitreau Restaurant, Sint-Eloois-Vijve • Belgium

The restaurant Vitreau in the Belgian municipality of Sint-Eloois-Vijve recently got a roof over part of the open terrace. Owners Pascale and Guillaume wanted more capacity during the winter, but they wanted to make it appealing for the summer as well. That's why they created a wooden roof in Ibiza style. The finishing product that caught their eye was our Rubio WoodCream, since this product would preserve the nerve structure of the wooden beams. The colour Snow White was applied to the CLT spruce and it looks amazing!

House Inkinen • Finland

Joni Inkinen has adopted a very natural lifestyle. As commercial director with the Finnish health and fitness company Puhdistamo he is dealing with healthy food, wellness and sports on a daily basis. The company is after all the leading distributor of superfoods in Finland. Joni wanted to pursue this ideology for his home as well. He decided to make his house as ecological as possible. That's why he chose to work without plastics or toxic building materials. The result is certainly worth being seen! Joni himself refers to his home as the “Superfood of living”.

The best thing about these beautiful designer lamps? The fact that they're made completely from discarded wood and are 100% ecological! Peruvian design company @fragmento.pe makes geometrical lamps that are handmade by local craftsmen. Director Marcos Lázaro wanted to create "conscious design" and therefore reuses natural materials for his lamps. Since our products are ecologically friendly, he chooses to finish the lamps with Rubio Monocoat Oil Plus 2C, colour Natural. To obtain a glossy finish, Marcos works with Rubio Monocoat Universal Maintenance Oil.

This terrace is all cosiness, and that has everything to do with the ecological aspect of the wood! It is made of recycled wood that is 50 years old. The wood was given a second life in the avocado bar in Romania after having served as a floor in a London house for half a century. With patience, attention and enthusiasm, Mesterul Geppetto transformed the wood into Avocado's beautiful terrace.

Üméa • Belgium

How do you turn a pizzeria into a hip wine, cocktail, tapas and lounge bar? With the help of Rubio Monocoat! Hotspot Üméa in the Belgian city of Waregem was completely transformed thanks to the redecorating of Mannax Wood Solutions. The owners of the bar Wendy Vandendriessche and Jürgen Steelandt were advised by Rubio Monocoat employee Olivier Ostijn and ultimately chose for neutral and black colours that matched the industrial look of the building.

The black interior was treated with Rubio Monocoat Precolor Easy Intense Black, Rubio Monocoat Oil Plus 2C Black and Rubio Monocoat Universal Maintenance Oil. The natural-looking wood of the bar was protected with the Rubio Invisible Protector. Wendy and Jürgen were really glad with the result, as we can read in their customer review!

“Rubio Monocoat has a broad knowledge in colours and applications. They guide their customers to the desired effect and offer great service. They clearly know their business, including for the catering sector. We especially love that the product requires only one layer and is very strong.”

Cathedral • Vologda, Russia

The cathedral was built in baroque style in the 18th century and is the centre of the Kremlin of Vologda. The cathedral has been extensively renovated in the past years. The decisive factor was the detailed preservation and recreation of the original condition.

The responsible commission chose Austriawood Edeldiele because they were able to reproduce the dimensions, surface structure (relief brushing) and historical bevel detail. They achieved the historical touch by smoking the oak and treating it with Rubio Monocoat. Due to the colouring, the high resilience and the easy maintenance, there was a clear decision for the Rubio surface.
